

NOTES FROM A CITY EDITOR'S DAYBOOK—
They're catfishin' along the Illinois today as they are along the Rock and it's the lucky boy who can spend his youth along a river. A river can bring the Huck Finn out in any kind; it can provide his latter days with all kinds of wonderful memories.

We were reared along the wide, placid, muddy Illinois, a storied stream now bustling with commerce and where once the "Julia Belle Swain" of show-boat fame paddled in and out of river-front towns, calliope blaring, summoning all children from miles around as effectively as Pied Piper.

IT WAS THE Illinois that sent the late Cong. Ed Hall, of Peoria, back to Congress time after time. Ed, at election time, would tour the riverside towns crying lustily for a "deep waterway for Illinois" and his loyal constituents would plunk for him solidly in November. We don't recall that Ed lived to see his dream fulfilled. In fact he was defeated for office when he was trapped into a fateful observation on his agricultural views. When asked some knotty questions about a farm problem, Ed replied, "To hell with the farmers; they don't know what they want!"

Attempts to deny that he said it were futile. His opponents seized upon it and hounded him into disastrous defeat. You see, Ed's heart belonged to the river.

OUR HOMETOWN was the direct offshoot of the brewery trade. It was a lusty brawling community primarily concerned with storing ice for the St. Louis brewery interests. Thus the waterfront became dotted with storage houses that farmers, fishermen and roustabouts were called upon to fill with ice when the lagoons and backwaters froze to a sufficient thickness.

Each summer, barges and steamboats hove into dock, loaded the ice stored in sawdust and hauled it away to cool the kegs in the downstream saloons—after, of course, a suitable quantity was reserved.

It was a strange beginning for a community, but no more strange, we suppose, than the grass roots history of many others. We tell you these incidents merely to show that a kid living along a river, any river, in those days, had all he wanted to do. He poached ducks in the fall, fished and swam in the spring and summer, and gloried in the fact that he could heave the seines of the commercial fishermen, those colorful squatters who have been inseparably linked with the river.

THEY'RE STILL there—those fishermen of our day—hugging the river banks in houseboats, drinking, brawling, fishing, sleeping. They're still quarreling with the "private interests," those rich sportsmen, who've acquired duck hunting rights under terms of "the Swamp Act," and as things now exist an uneasy truce has been effected. However freely it was acquired, the fishing rights, son, are theirs under some God-given grant obscured even from the courts.

"PAPPY" is still there, too. The town's first Democrat, he has been loyal to the party since the fore. He amazed the youth of our days of Bryan—maybe even before. He amazed the youth of our time with tales of his circus days and we'd always steer him around into telling about Lillian Russell—his first and only love, he said.

There was "Pappy's" friend, a Chicago railroad executive who would arrive occasionally to spend a day or so in "Pappy's" shanty just "to get away from it all." At the height of the revelry, he, the friend, would summon all of "Pappy's" riverfront pals, march them to the nearest saloon for a reassuring drink, then parade them to a barbershop for a haircut and shave.

We can see them yet, this array of derelicts, seated, awaiting their turn for the clippers, and blinking solemnly at the prospect of returning once more to a sanitary world.

WHAT WE SAY here is true, and we leave it to the child psychologists, a specialist on riverfront boyhood preferably, to corroborate our adult mannerisms.

All we say that it was fun—an awful lot of fun!

American Fled Jail, Say Soviets

State Department Says It Does Not Fate of Prisoner

WASHINGTON — (AP)—An international mystery today shrouded the fate of John Hvasta, a naturalized American citizen who reportedly escaped from Communist Czechoslovakia's grim Leopoldov prison Jan. 2.

The United States government is trying through both diplomatic and intelligence sources to find out what has happened to the Hillside, N. J., man whose escape was announced Friday over seven months after it was supposed to have occurred.

Officials, puzzled, But at the moment officials have no idea whether he is dead or alive and still is hiding either behind the Iron Curtain or outside the Communist bloc.

Hvasta had been sentenced to three years—later raised to 10 years—on espionage charges in May, 1949. The United States had denounced the charges against Hvasta as false.

American officials have not been permitted to see Hvasta since August, 1950, despite repeated requests.

The escape report was released Friday by the State Department. It said the American Embassy at Prague had been notified by the Foreign Office in a note which added that Czech authorities "do not know his present whereabouts."

Czech Native
The State department said that it "has no information which would confirm or contradict the accuracy of the statement." Hvasta, 25, is a native of Czechoslovakia, who was brought to the United States by his parents in 1929 and became a naturalized citizen in 1944. In 1948 he returned to his native land as a student.

Water Runs Up a Bit!

BELLEVEILLE, Ill., (AP) — When water runs up hill it's an oddity. And when water runs up a bill of more than $100, this, too, attracts the attention of the home owner.

Robert L. Kern, Belleville newspaper publisher, received such a bill for $93,000 gallons of water used at his family club-house—visited once a week—near Freeburg, Ill. Not only did the bill excite the curiosity, it also excited Kern.

The explanation: An open water tap had been flowing water freely through a garden hose, apparently for several days.

Federal Grand Jury Will Probe Post Office Scandal

CHICAGO—(AP)—U. S. Attorney Otto Kerner jr. says a federal grand jury will be given information that at least 33 Chicago postoffice supervisors paid large sums to get promotions.

Kerner said Friday he had received a report from postal inspectors regarding the payments, and that the grand jury will meet next month.

In Washington, Attorney General James P. McGranery said he expects a number of indictments as a result of the investigation.

He said that "the only question is how many we are going to indict—that is, who and how many." Kerner and other officials declined to discuss contents of the detailed report. Another source,

Hillison, 'Chuck' Get Fines

The mysterious man named "Chuck" who sent Robert Hillison, Franklin Grove, to the Dixon Public hospital with possible head injuries after an alley fight Thursday night turned himself in to police late Friday.

His name is Charles Savoure, 515 Van Buren av., and he, along with Hillison, was fined $10 and costs by Justice Sterling W. Schrock on charge of disorderly conduct.

Savoure's father had called Police Chief Frank Tyne as soon as he had seen the newspaper story. In the meantime, Tyne had contacted other witnesses to the Commercial alley brawl and had located Hillison's missing money—a total of $252.

Tyne said that after Hillison had removed his shirt prior to the fight, one of the witnesses had picked up the shirt, with his money in it, to "keep it for him."

The money was returned to the chief with the shirt. Hillison had been picked-up by Dixon police early yesterday morning after he had been found in a bruised and dazed condition.

He had been taken to the hospital where he later was released. Both men paid their fines at 9 p. m. Friday.

Retail Food Prices Drop

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Lower prices for fresh fruits and vegetables more than offset a slight rise in the cost of other foods, causing the government's index of retail food prices to drop six-tenths of one per cent during the two weeks ended July 28.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics announced yesterday its index now stands at 233.7 per cent of the 1935-39 average, a slight decline from the all-time peak two weeks earlier.

John Haderlein, Chicago postmaster, said about 400 promotions have been approved since he took office in 1948. All have been approved by him personally, he said. Promotions in the postal service are based on competitive examinations and the recommendations of supervisors.

Haderlein declined further comment.

Gen. Eisenhower Says Foreign Policy Major Issue in Fall Campaign

Ike, Says Dulles, Believes Truman Puts America In Great Peril

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

DENVER—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower believes, says John Foster Dulles, that President Truman's foreign policy is placing America in the greatest peril in its history.

And Dulles, Republican international affairs expert who until recently was an adviser to Secretary of State Acheson, says only election of Eisenhower as president can block Soviet domination of the free world and avert a third world war.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Eisenhower's Democratic opponent for the presidency, "lacks the experience, the stature and the power of decision in great world matters which are so necessary to save our nation at this time," Dulles told a news conference yesterday.

All Agree
Dulles, chief author of the foreign policy plank of the GOP platform, spoke out after a two-hour conference with Eisenhower and his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California.

"I think we all agree," said Dulles, "that the trend of our present foreign policies is to put our nation in the greatest peril it has ever been in the entire course of our national history."

Then he went on to blast those policies and to say: "I would not be here expressing the views I have if they were not in accord with Gen. Eisenhower's views."

Eisenhower, Nixon and he agree, Dulles said, that foreign policy is the major issue of the campaign—a view Stevenson expressed last week.

Virtually all credit for improvement of morale in Western Europe belong to Eisenhower—who was North Atlantic commander until last June 1—and not to the administration, Dulles declared.

Power Shifts
"At the end of World War II," he said, "Russia was a relatively weak and terribly devastated country. The United States has unprecedented power and prestige in the world."

"Since then the balance of power has been steadily moving against us. One-third of all the people of the world are already under Soviet dictatorship as a hostile force against us. The remainder of the world, which we call the free

He was voted the greatest male athlete in The Associated Press mid-century poll.

Bulgaria Charges Aggression

Files Protest With UN; Greeks Minimize Charge

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.

—(AP)—Communist Bulgaria charged Greece last night with "provocative" and "aggressive" action in shelling the disputed island of Gamma on the Greek-Bulgarian border. The accusation was made in a formal Bulgarian protest to the United Nations.

Bulgaria Foreign Minister Minko Neytchev called the U. N. that shells and mines fell on Bulgarian territory during the Greek army's attack Thursday on the tiny spot of land in the Evros River.

Charge Not Clear
It was not clear whether he was charging that shells overshoot their target and landed on the Bulgarian side of the river or whether he was referring to the island as Bulgarian territory. Both countries have claimed it.

The U. N. secretariat promptly sent Neytchev's protest against "the new provocations of the Greek authorities and the aggressive acts undertaken by them" to the Athens government. It also circulated the Bulgarian message among U. N. members.

No Action Expected
No further action was expected here unless there are new developments.

The Greek general staff said yesterday it leveled mortar and machinegun fire on Gamma island to drive off a patrol of Bulgarian troops which had occupied it.

Greece's acting premier, Sophocles Venizelos, minimized the incident as "purely local in character."

Downers Grove Man Slain by Robber Pair

CHICAGO—(AP)—A Downers Grove man was shot to death last night by a robber on a South Side street.

The victim was Edward F. Iehl, 32, purchasing agent for a Chicago welding and engineering firm. Iehl's companion, Harry E. Johnson, 43, a Downers Grove landscaper, told police that he had attended a White Sox baseball game with Iehl last night, later, he said, they met a Negro known to Iehl as "Bobby" in a tavern.

Bobby and a second Negro called Gates, offered the two Downers Grove men a ride to where Iehl had parked his car before the ball game. After Gates had driven to South Wabash av., and 10th st., Johnson said, Gates drew a pistol and announced he intended to rob Johnson and Iehl.

Johnson told police he heard three shots fired, and ran. Other witnesses said they saw Iehl take several steps and fall during the shooting. Then, one of two Negroes bent over Iehl's body and took a wallet from a pocket.

Wedding Opens New Life For Girl Minus Memory

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—(AP)—A new chapter opened today in the life of Carolyn Bigham Daniel—the pretty, 20-year-old brunette bride whose memory of her past disappeared two years ago.

Friday night Carolyn married Gwyn Daniel of Ardmore, Okla. The marriage climaxed a letter-writing romance that began while Carolyn fought to recover from a dread disease that attacked her in September 1950 — meningococcal meningitis.

Memory Blank

The disease sent Carolyn to a hospital for four months. When she left the hospital her memory was a blank. Relatives and friends were strangers to her. So was everything she had learned in school.

Taught by a schoolteacher friend, Miss Mable Smith, Carolyn learned to read and write again. She advanced to the second grade by February of last year and finished her high school education for a second time last June.

Her battle for health and re-education gained national attention. Thousands of letters offered advice and encouragement. One of

Tax Records Will Be Used On Gamblers

Treasury Payments Evidence Against Springfield Club

SPRINGFIELD — (AP)—

Treasury department records that two Springfield men declared a gross income from gambling of $45,644 in seven months have been filed in Circuit court.

State's Attorney George Contrakon filed photographic copies of the records Friday with Judge DeWitt Crow in an additional complaint for an injunction to close a local establishment on gambling charges.

First Time

Contrakon said he obtained copies of the records from the Treasury department in Washington.

The state's attorney said that as far as he knew this was the first case in which such records, required under the new federal gambling tax stamp law, "have been used as a predicate for prosecution."

The records were those reported to the collector of internal revenue by Kenneth Cox and Ernest Dinora, who applied for a federal gambling tax stamp Oct. 31, 1951. The records showed they paid a 10 per cent tax of $4,564.40 from November through May, as required by the law.

Claim Nuisance

Contrakon originally petitioned Aug. 1 for an injunction to close the Turf Club in downtown Springfield. He claimed an alleged baseball gambling headquarters in the rear of the club is a nuisance.

Pilot Out to Break Small Plane Record

WICHITA, Kan., (AP) — Bob Faris, 31-year-old Wichita pilot, took off in his tiny Mooney "mitten" plane today in an attempt to set a non-stop distance record of 1,400 miles. His destination was Montpelier, Vt.

Sponsors said the current world record for very light airplanes is held by Albert Reblion of France, who flew a Muntz type plane a distance of 1,135.219 miles in August, 1951.

Faris broke the national record for the "mitten" type of light craft, flying 1,191 miles non-stop, Wichita to Watertown, N. Y., in 1951. Faris estimated he would be in the air 13 and one-half hours. He said he expected to burn about $10 worth of fuel on the flight to Montpelier.

Faris' route, according to the flight plan filed with the CAA, will take him over Quincy, Ill., Goshen, Ind., Detroit, and London, Ont., to Montpelier.

Job Peddling Sale of Yard High on List

Order Audit of Books of Alien Property Office

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Flanked by an array of new top assistants, Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery moved forward on a number of fronts today in his battle to clean up any corruption in the federal government.

McGranery assembled a news conference to disclose a number of shifts in his chief assistants and to announce that:

1. His department is investigating alleged job sales in the Chicago post office—second largest in the country—reportedly at $500 per throw. McGranery said "it is only a question of who and how many we are going to indict."

Probe Shipyard Sale

2. He has ordered a grand jury investigation into the 1946 public auction of the government's 19½ million dollar St. John's River shipyard at Jacksonville, Fla., sold as surplus to the Tampa Shipbuilding Company for $1,925,500.

A House committee investigating the Justice department said allegations of bribery and collusion in the shipyard case were referred to the department six years ago, when Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark was attorney general—but that no action resulted.

McGranery told his news conference that "the matter should have been investigated more thoroughly and should have been presented to a grand jury then."

Anks Audit

The attorney general also said he has just signed a $30,000 contract with the private New York auditing firm of Arthur Young and Company to check the books of the alien property custodian, long under fire by Republican senators.

The attorney general called his news conference immediately after President Truman announced three new major appointments in the Justice Department, on McGranery's recommendations. They are: Ross L. Malone, 42, Roswell, N. M., attorney never before associated with government, as deputy attorney general, No. 2 post in the department.

Rowland F. Kirks, 37, former dean of the National University school of law here, as assistant attorney general for alien property.

Charles B. Murray, 52, assistant district attorney for the District of Columbia for 25 years, as assistant attorney general for the criminal division.

Mendota Plans Annual Sweet Corn Festival

MENDOTA—This community is preparing for its fifth annual Sweet corn festival to be held Tuesday. Highlighting the celebration will be eight tons of sweet corn with melted butter to be given away.

A parade of 15 floats will start at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday. A queen contest will be held Monday evening with out-of-town judges picking the girl to reign over Tuesday's activities.

The eight tons of sweet corn is donated each year by a local packing company and a creamery donates the melted butter. The corn is cooked by a 1921 steam engine.

Other entertainment will include a pet parade, a costume parade and a fly-over of jet planes.

At approximately 9:30 p. m. there will be a street dance.

The festival is sponsored by the Mendota chamber of commerce.

New Heating System Ends 'Cold Floor' Problems

Perimeter heating, newest development in warm air systems, has been specifically designed to overcome the number one comfort-upsetting problem in house heating—the cold floor. It is called "perimeter heating" because the warm air from the furnace is introduced into the rooms from diffusers located at the base of the outside walls under the windows—at the perimeter of the house.

Reason for locating warm air diffusers at the base of outside walls is because these areas account for from 65 to 80 percent of the heat which is lost from a house.

All houses lose heat when the outside temperatures fall below the comfort point. That is why it is necessary to have a heating system in the house.

But it has been found that various areas of the house lose more of the heat than others. Percentage-wise, the locations responsible for heat loss are about as follows: ceiling, 13.2 percent; floor, 7.8 percent; outside walls, 30 percent; doors, 16 percent; and windows, 32.6 percent. When you figure up the percentage of heat loss for which the outside walls, doors, and windows are responsible, you will find that these areas account for 79 percent of the total heat lost.

Conduct Research
Heating scientists have found that to make a house really comfortable the heating system should "replace heat that is lost, as fast as it is lost, at the point where it is lost." This point, as shown by the above percentage figures, is the outside wall areas of the house.

By locating warm air diffusers at the base of the outside walls, preferably under the windows (window glass loses heat faster than any other building material). The warm air heating engineer uses a fundamental law of physics to provide comfort for the home owner. This is the fact that as air is warmed it becomes lighter in weight and, accordingly, rises. By directing a flow of warm air upward along the walls and windows the perimeter system warms these areas so that none of the room air in contact with them can become chilled. Thus, no cold air can fall to the floor to form drafts.

As evidence that this wonderful comfort objective is achieved the traditional "cold" air return grilles, usually located under the windows in older systems, have been eliminated. The air is returned to the furnace through a grille located on an inside wall. In fact, even the term "cold air return" is no longer used because there is no "cold" air to return to the furnace.

Get Good Results
Under stringent tests at the University of Illinois, the warm air perimeter heating system has demonstrated very good results. Temperature differences of only two degrees or less between floor and ceiling are not at all uncommon with this system.

This means that the kiddies can play on the floor even on the coldest winter days without mother worrying that they are sitting in a draft. In fact, the colder the weather outside, the better the system functions in adding warmth to the walls and windows of the house.

Another advantage is that by keeping a constant stream of moving warm air across the window surfaces this system forestalls condensation on glass areas—acting much like the windshield defroster in your automobile.

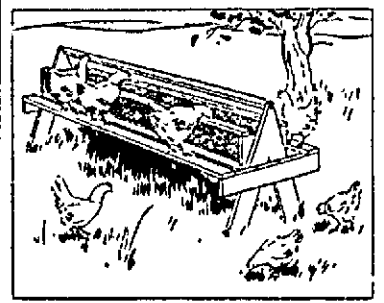

Insulate Fully While Building

Home owners can insulate completely at the lowest cost by doing it while the building is under construction, building experts explain. After completion of the building, the cost of insulating walls and other inaccessible areas is several times greater because the construction must be disturbed.

In an existing building without insulation, it is usually practical and worthwhile, however, to insulate the attic, either along the roof or along the attic floor. With a fiber blanket insulation, which is designed for speedy and easy installation, the home owner himself can insulate the attic in a matter of hours.

Construct Peck-Proof Hen Feeder

Efficient feeding of the laying flock is as important as providing a properly-balanced ration. To assure maximum egg production, the poultry raiser must provide ample feeding space for the hens. Several portable, sturdy, dry mash feeders are the answer to the feeding problem.

Experience indicates that every 100 hens should have not less than 30 or 32 feet of space at the trough. In a 20'x20' house containing 100 hens, four reel mash feeders, like the one shown, should be provided. This U-bottom feeder minimizes waste and keeps the feed clean. Feed is readily accessible. With plenty of feeding room, even the non-aggressive hen will get her share.

Reel mash feeders, which get their name from the revolving piece of 1" x 2" lumber mounted on spikes to keep the hens from perching over the trough, are 4' long, 21" high and 16" wide. Recommended for the trough portion is Masonite, 1/4" tempered presdwood, because of its toughness and durability. A piece 4' long and 1 1/2" wide is needed. Other material required: One piece of 1 by 6 lumber 7 1/2 feet long, a 1 by 4 of 8-foot length, another that is 7' long, and a 1 by 2 that is a half inch longer than 4'; a half pound each of eight-penny and four-penny nails.

Here's How To Install Panel Work

Here are some easy instructions for installing wood panels in new homes or remodeling projects.

First consideration is the selection of the correct type and thickness. A tempered product should be used in kitchens, bathrooms or basements, due to the high humidity. The same type is specified also where there will be hard wear and abrasion as in floors, wainscots or work surfaces.

Any thickness may be used for application over solid backing such as plaster, wood, and rock lath. The thinnest wood available for this purpose is one-eighth inch thick. For application over an open framework of studs, joists or furring strips spaced not more than 16" on center, the hardwood should be at least 3/16" thick.

Surface Must Be Straight

Before applying the panels over a solid backing, the supporting surface should be straight, firmly attached and dry. If nails are used, the backing material must be capable of sufficient nail-holding power. If an adhesive is used, remove any old wallpaper or loose paint and scratch the painted surface to provide a direct bond to the backing.

In a ceiling height installation, draw a plumb line from ceiling to floor wherever a joint will occur and use this line as a guide for cutting and fitting.

If panels are applied over open framing, the studs, furring strips or joists should be true and in straight alignment. Sufficient framing should be supplied so that all edges of the panels will bear on a continuous support.

Joint treatment should be planned. Panels should be fitted loosely so they will not have to be forced into place. Leave a slight space at all joints. The joints may be left exposed or covered with wood, metal, or wood molding.

Nail Holes May Be Filled

Box nails or countersunk nails may be used if nail heads are not objectionable. If nail heads are to be minimized, use finishing or casing nails. If the nail heads are to be concealed, use casing nails, setting them slightly below the surface and filling the hole with putty or plastic wood after the prime coat of paint has been applied.

Where boards are applied over a solid backing, use 1 1/4" nails.

How to Make Balky Motors Behave

BY MR. FIN

It seems that almost everyone who has ever owned a gasoline-powered lawn mower has at some time suppressed an urge to give it full throttle and let the infernal machine run itself to pieces—if it would run at all.

For power lawn mowers—like their pilots—seem subject to fits of temperament. Without apparent reason they balk or quit, usually at crucial moments.

Engine won't start. There could be three trouble spots: in the carburetor, ignition system, or in the engine itself.

If the mower hasn't been in use for several months, the carburetor has probably become gummed up and isn't feeding gasoline.

Move the choke backward and forward while trying to start the engine. Thoroughly clean the carburetor, if necessary.

Next, check the ignition system by removing the spark plug wire at the plug and hold the tip about 1/4-inch from the cylinder head while cranking the engine. If a spark jumps the gap, the system is probably all right. If there is no spark, the spark plug may be broken or gone bad. A broken plug will not fire properly, even though there may still be a spark.

If the spark plug's porcelain is broken, replace the plug. Accumulations of gum and carbon may have caused the plug to foul. Clean the electrodes at the base of the plug, readjust the gap between electrodes, and try again.

When all this is to no avail, you can be almost certain the trouble is in the engine itself. Such conditions as loss of engine compression, sticking, or broken valves, worn pistons, bearings or cylinder walls all demand overhaul by an expert.

Engine starts, but dies slowly.

spacing them 12" apart throughout the body of the panel and 4" apart around the edges. Over open framing, the panels are fastened with the same size nails spaced 6" apart at intermediate supports and 4" apart around the edges.

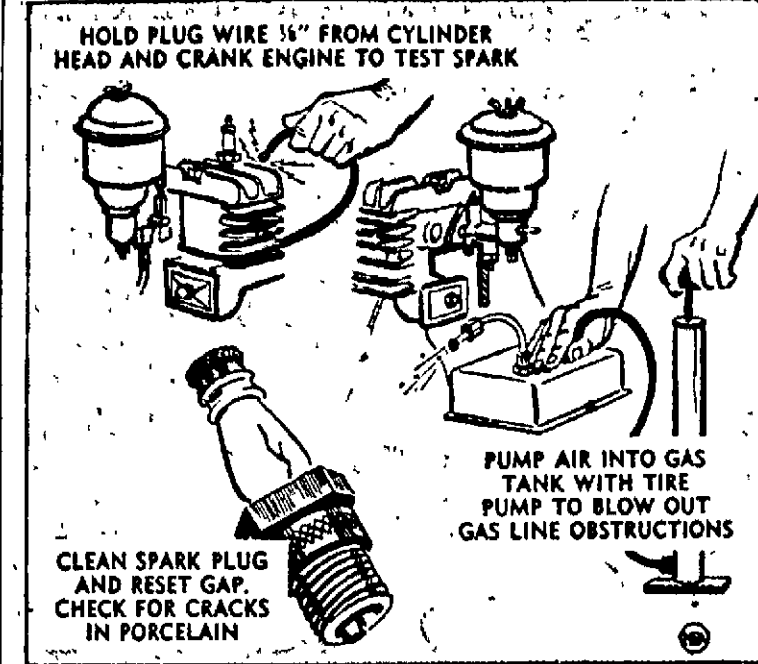

For installations of wood with an adhesive, use a waterproof tile-board adhesive or a waterproof linoleum cement. The adhesive should be applied over the entire back surface with a saw-tooth trowel having notches approximately 3/16" in depth. Avoid getting any adhesive on the face of the panel. which should be checked by a repairman.

Engine idles, but quits when accelerated. This occurs when the engine is cold and choked, or when it is hot and fully choked. Or a partially clogged fuel line may be allowing only enough gasoline through the line to feed the engine at slow speeds. Be sure to open the choke of cold engine and close it after it warms up.

Engine runs slowly, lacks power. This condition indicates a need to consult a repairman, for it may mean a partially clogged gas line, use of wrong gasoline, worn engine parts, etc.

By careful maintenance some of these problems can be avoided; others can't be anticipated. Here's wishing you luck.

Galvanized Tub Solves Fire Problem

For all its many advantages, automatic heating often means that the homeowner is at a loss for a place to burn paper trash. A wire frame trash burner outside is the obvious answer.

Select a place well removed from the house, garage, foliage or grass. The ashes that drop through the bottom of the burner will cause an unsightly black spot unless caught. But there's an easy solution to this problem, too.

Simply place the trash burner in a galvanized steel tub. Ashes drop through the bottom of the burner into the tub, leaving the yard as clean as ever when the chore is finished.

Light-Up Your Work Bench

Repair jobs will go faster and more accurately if the farm work shop has a well-lighted work bench. Advise rural lighting authorities. Because many of a farmer's repair tasks are saved for dark, rainy days, when he can't work out of doors it is doubly important that he have good lighting at his bench.

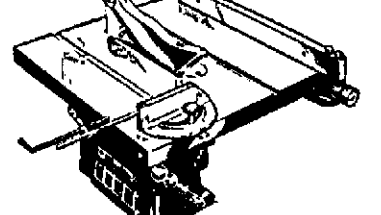

A simple arrangement that can be installed by the farm handyman is shown in the photograph above.

An industrial-type metal fixture with two 25-watt fluorescent lamps is centered over the bench. In addition for extra light, a pair of 150-watt floodlamps is installed at each end of the fluorescent fixture.

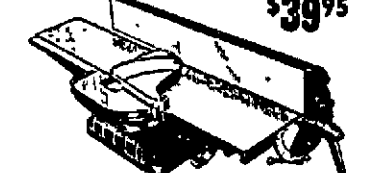

For greater flexibility and almost three times as much light, 150-watt spotlights could be used. However, in order to aim the light exactly where it is needed for close work, use swivel-type sockets so that the bulbs may be aimed in the right direction.

Big Business and Big Government

Many people believe that this is a wonderful period for business and especially "big business." The dollars are rolling in in an endless golden stream, they reason, and about the only worry is how to dispose of them.

If you hold this belief, the following paragraph from a factual article in a publication of the National City Bank of New York should be of interest: "Big business" now devotes a major portion of its income to the support of "big government." The modern corporation has become an agency to marshal men and money not only for the mass production of goods, but also for the mass collection of taxes. Last year the 100 largest industrial organizations each paid an average of $67,000,000 in federal income and excess profits taxes, and $42,000,000 in other federal, state, local and foreign government taxes. Their total direct tax bill of $109,000,000 took 67 per cent of the balance before taxes. Such taxes were at the rate of about 14 cents for every dollar of sales. They amounted to nearly two-thirds of total payrolls, and to nearly four times the dividends paid to shareholders."

The individual income taxpayer is in a similar position. More and more of his income goes to government—less and less of it is his to spend and save and invest. Economists have long believed that if a nation's economy is to be kept dynamic and progressive, not more than 25 per cent of the national income must be absorbed by taxes. Today about a third of the national income goes to government.

Can anyone doubt that government spending, the public debt, and taxation, together constitute one of the most vital problems we have ever faced as a people?

A Better Place to Shop

It is axiomatic that a successful retailer, small or large, chain or independent, must devote much of his time to thinking about his customers—about what Mr. and Mrs. America like and don't like, what they will buy and won't buy. The consumer, after all, is king—he can make or break any store by giving or denying his patronage.

Of late, a great many retailers have been giving increasing attention to ways and means of making their stores more attractive to the customers. This work is taking two forms. One is to get certain facts better known, and to offset such widely-held misconceptions that retail prices are unnecessarily high and that retail profits are exorbitant.

The second phase of the work lies in recognizing the fact that the importance of employees to the success of every retail enterprise cannot be over-stated. The employees are the people who come in direct personal contact with the customers—and a rude, inefficient, or indifferent employee can drive armies of people right out the doors, and down the street to another store. Moreover, employees are customers, too, and they are members of all kinds of far-reaching, influential social groups.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE
Fooling Around Ruins Bridge Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY

I'm sometimes astonished to see the amount of wasted motion that goes on in a game of bridge. Even a good player sometimes fiddles about with useless plays and gets himself into the wrong hand. Today's hand furnishes a horrible example of this type of misplay.

West opened the three of spades. East put up the king and South won with the ace. Declarer entered the dummy with the king of clubs in order to return a low trump, and the appearance of East's question should have clarified the trump situation.

South covered with the king of trumps and West won with the ace. West returned a club, and South won in his own hand with the queen.

At this point declarer, should have led a diamond towards dummy. This play would have to be made sooner or later, and there was no reason to postpone it.

Instead, however, South led a trump to dummy's jack. This told him nothing that he didn't already know and served only to put him in the dummy when he wanted to be in his own hand.

South now had to get back to his own hand with the queen of spades, in order to lead a diamond. West ducked and dummy won with the king.

South still had a chance to make his contract by cashing dummy's top club, but he muffed this play also. Instead he returned to his hand with the ten of hearts.

Now he couldn't afford to cash the jack of spades, since West would get in with the ace of diamonds and could then draw the last trump and take a spade trick. South therefore had to lead another diamond towards the dummy.

West stepped up with the ace of diamonds, cashed his high trump, and put dummy in with a club.

This left dummy with a losing diamond, which was enough to defeat the contract, and South's good jack of spades went to sleep.

"You need more than that," his partner grimly replied. "Why don't you try radar?"

PETER EDSON'S WASHINGTON NEWS NOTEBOOK

Sen. Long's Caustic Words Are Sample of Coming Political Debate

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Louisiana Sen. Russell B. Long's number one political enemy in his home state is Leander Perez, district attorney of Plaquemines parish. Perez rules there as boss, but he is also spokesman for many of Louisiana's oil and sulphur millionaires, the Dixiecrats and the lily-whites.

"In a broadcast to his state before leaving for Europe the other day, Senator Long paid his respects to Perez in these choice words, which are fair sample of the kind of debate apt to be heard all across this broad land from now to November:

"I have always wondered how I could carry Plaquemines parish 10 to one in a close race and lose that same parish 4 to one at a time when I was achieving the greatest majority that any candidate ever accumulated in the history of Louisiana.

"Perhaps there is no irregularity to it. Perhaps Mr. Perez works miracles in Plaquemines parish . . . I have no intention of leading a crusade into Plaquemines parish. However, I expect to do what I can to prevent the police-state methods of that area from being extended throughout Louisiana."

They'll Be Around

Neither of the vice-presidential candidates, John Sparkman of Alabama nor Richard Nixon of California, will resign his Senate seat to campaign in the national elections. Sparkman's term in the Senate runs to January, 1955. Nixon's to 1957, so the one who loses in November will still be around afterward.

There's no precedent to cause a congressman to resign his seat just because he's running for another office. John Garner of Texas was elected both congressman and vice president in 1932.

Senator McNary of Oregon didn't resign his Senate seat when he campaigned for the vice presidency under Willkie in 1940. Alben Barkley didn't resign from the Senate to run for vice president in 1948.

Ducking a Question

There was a new green carpet tacked down in the hall leading to the State Department auditorium where Secretary of State Dean Acheson holds his press conferences.

Opening a conference shortly after he returned from his European and South American tour, the secretary remarked that "rolling out the green carpet" was a new form of welcome. On his tour, it had been the traditional "red carpet" that had figuratively been rolled out.

Later the secretary was asked if the green carpet would be rolled out in case ex-King Farouk wanted to come to the U. S.

"I don't think that's a proper question," he said, and ducked.

B-52 Born in a Motel

The story of how the B-52 all-jet, swept-back-wing super-bomber "was born" on a Dayton hotel room dresser top has just been released by Boeing Airplane Co., its maker.

Back in 1918 a Boeing engineer-design team brought to Air Materiel Command plans for what it considered a hot new bomber on which the company had been working two years. But the Air Force wasn't interested. The plane was obsolete even before an experimental model could be built.

Somewhat chagrined, the experts retired to their hotel suite to think it over. That was on Thursday night. On Friday morning they called up the Air Materiel Command headquarters and said they'd be back on Monday morning with a new design.

Over the weekend, Engineering Vice President Ed Wells, Project Engineer Art Carlson, Design Chief Maynard Pennell, Power Plant Engineer H. W. Willington and Aerodynamicist Vaughn Blumenthal drew up their plans for what is now the B-52.

George Schairer, now chief of Boeing's technical staff, laid out the lines for the swept-back wing, then hand-carved a model of the plane from balsa wood. This model, plus a 33-page report, was submitted on Monday morning as promised.

Today, less than four years later, the plane is being test flown in Seattle.

Espionage Agents—Willkie, Wallace

Two of the best espionage jobs done for the United States in World War I were turned in by—of all people—the late Wendell Willkie and former Vice President Henry A. Wallace. The story is told for the first time in "Peegassus," house organ for the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp.

Willkie, it will be recalled, made his famous "One World" flight, circumnavigating the globe with the blessing of all the Allied powers. To guide him on his flight across Russia to China, the Soviet government furnished him with a set of maps.

Realizing their value, Willkie was sharp enough to talk his pilots into letting him have 17 maps at the end of the flight, and he turned them over to military intelligence.

Later on his flight from west to east in which he visited Russia and China, Vice President Wallace got away with the same gag.

No Prodding From Moscow

While the Russian Communists, their agents and agitators have a finger in almost every political disturbance that occurs any place in the world, an exception has to be made in the case of the recent Egyptian revolt that threw King Farouk out of his job.

Communism hasn't made much headway in any of the Moslem countries, with the possible exception of Iran, where the Tudeh party causes plenty of trouble.

In Egypt, Communist propagandizing hasn't made a dent, though the poverty of the great mass of the people should provide a natural breeding ground for discontent. But no one has questioned the loyalty of the Egyptian army leaders who decided to kick out their king. They thought it up and carried it out without any urging from Moscow.

You Figure It Out

One of the facts of life and nature that upsets weather scientists in trying to account for the occurrence of droughts and wet spells is that they will hit one area and miss another.

In 1931, for instance, in the worst year of the great plains dust bowl drought, West Virginia had a 12 per cent deficiency in rainfall, while Virginia was 10 per cent over average. And for the whole 1930-36 period, Washington, New Mexico, Florida and New England—at the four corners of the U. S.—had excess rainfall while the rest of the U. S. was deficient.

To believers in the theory that sunspots cause droughts, the question is asked, "How could a sunspot, 94 million miles away, pick out any one of these areas for special treatment?"

THE DOCTOR SAYS:

Antihistamines Often Relieve Itching of Hives

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Many correspondents have written to this column asking about the allergic disease known as urticaria or hives. This is one of those conditions which is brought about by sensitivity to some substance to which most people can come in contact without causing difficulty.

Hives usually arises suddenly with the appearance of large red spots on the skin. These bumps may appear almost anywhere on the body, but are quite likely to involve a good portion of the skin covering.

They look reddish and swollen and are almost always associated with severe itching, which brings with it an irresistible desire to scratch.

Many substances can produce hives, but strawberries and certain fish foods like crabmeat have been particularly often incriminated in this respect.

However, urticaria can develop from almost any food, drug and from such other things as insect bites, furs, infections or even just heat or cold. The urticaria can last for a few hours only or for days, weeks or even months at a time.

The proper line of attack on hives is to try to determine the cause. Unfortunately, the skin of many people with hives does not react to testing with the substance which causes the disease. This is perhaps because they are sensitive to the offending substance when swallowed, but not when applied to the skin.

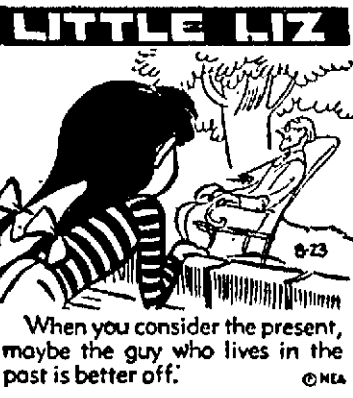

Trial diets and other means of determining the cause may have to be tried, therefore. If the cause can be discovered, the proper treatment is to remove it by cutting it out of the diet or by eliminating whatever is responsible.

The one bright spot in treatment which has been developed in recent years is the use of certain drugs going under the name of "antihistamines." Several of these substances are on the market under various names.

Each of them has certain advantages and certain disadvantages and should not be taken except under competent medical advice. They do not cure the underlying condition, but frequently bring relief from the itching and improvement in the appearance of the skin sometimes for hours at a time.

CAUSE MUST BE FOUND
Until the cause of all cases can be discovered and removed, these antihistamine agents will prove extremely useful in bringing relief to those who cannot be helped by other measures.

When the cause cannot be discovered, however, which is all too often, the treatment is difficult indeed. There is nothing which can be put on the surface of the skin which will make the urticaria disappear. Even the itching can be only partially relieved while the urticaria is present.

What's Right?

You write a letter to ask a favor of a person and he immediately does what you ask.

WRONG: Let the matter drop right there.

RIGHT: Write and thank him graciously for having helped you.

Nerve Gas Described By British

LONDON, (AP)—Effects of new "nerve gases", which give no warning of their presence and can kill almost instantly have been described by Britain's Ministry of Supply.

The ministry did not say, however, whether use of the gases in modern warfare was practical. It also gave no indication of what nation or nations might have them.

An article, prepared by the ministry's chief chemist, Sir Henry Garner, at the request of Britain's Chemical Defense Advisory Board, said:

"These gases are rapidly absorbed in inhalation of the vapor, absorption of the liquid through the skin and mucous membrane, or by ingestion consumption of contaminated food and water.

"A drop of the liquid in the eye or the inhalation of a high concentration of the vapor for a few seconds may cause incapacity or death within a few seconds."

Nothing work is on exhibit around the hall of this busy building. There are also phases of Room Improvement work shown. Every day there are demonstrations on stage in the auditorium during morning hours and at 2 p. m. There is a public dress revue staged every day at 3 p. m., also on stage in the Auditorium of Junior Home Economics Building.

On Thursday, August 14, Lee County 4-Hers will be participating in the Illinois Share-The-Fun Festival State Finals. Acts from Lee, Whiteside, Carroll and Stephenson counties will be staged in the Illinois Building at 1:45 p. m. on that day. Shirley Engelbrecht, winning m. c. in the district, will be master of ceremonies for the day's program which begins at 8:30 a. m. USE ALL THE WATERMELON

While the watermelon season is on, don't forget that the rosy-ripe melon is not the only delicious part of the melon. Pickles and preserves made from the greenish-white portion of the rind just under the green skin have a piquancy which make them particularly suitable for serving with either hot or cold meats.

Spicy sirup and vinegar impart a special flavor to watermelon pickles. Note, in the following recipe from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, that the several kinds of spices used to make a good blend of flavors, are used whole. They should be tied in a bag, dropped into the boiling sirup, then removed before the pickles are packed into jars.

Ingredients: 4 pounds watermelon rind; lime water made with 2 quarts cold water and 1 tablespoon of lime (calcium oxide purchased from drug store); 2 tablespoons whole allspice; 2 tablespoons whole cinnamon; 1 quart vinegar; 4 pounds sugar.

To Make: Select thick rind from a firm, not overripe melon. Trim off the green skin and pink flesh. Weigh 4 pounds of the remaining portion, cut up into 1-inch cubes. Soak for an hour in lime water. Drain; cover with fresh water and cook for 1½ hours, or until tender. Add more water as needed. Drain.

Put spices loosely in a clean, thin, white cloth; tie top tightly. Bring to boiling the spices, vinegar, 1 quart water and sugar. Add watermelon rind and boil gently for two hours. Remove spice bag. Pack rind in clean, hot jars which have just been boiled 15 to 20 minutes. Fill jars to top with hot sirup. Seal tightly. Makes about 6 quarts.

Or, if you prefer, let the watermelon stand overnight covered with the sirup. In the morning, remove spice bag. Boil 1 minute. Then pack into jars, cover with sirup and seal tightly.

Watermelon preserves are less tart and spicy than the pickles, since no vinegar is used in their preparation and, if a more bland taste is desired, the spices may be left out entirely. Directions for making watermelon preserves are: Ingredients: 4 pounds watermelon rind; lime water made with 2 quarts of water and 1 tablespoon of lime (calcium oxide); 4 pounds

Many Attend 'Aqua Parade' Friday Night

Their true love for water was displayed by the White Cap Marine Girl Scouts of Dixon when they presented "The Aqua Parade." Friday evening, regardless of the intermittent rain. Under the sponsorship of the Dixon park board, the nearly two hour lavish water spectacle was presented at the Dixon Memorial Pool. Not one bit dampened by the late afternoon and early evening rain were the spirits of the 21 girls participating in the 16 numbers.

Congratulations are due "Katy," Mrs. Allan Boyd, swimming instructor at the pool and director of the show; Miss Frances Lu Sorn, her assistant and Mrs. David Whitcomb, leader of the troop. Mrs. Whitcomb acted as narrator for the show.

Walt Cryer, head lifeguard at the pool and Jim DeYoung and John Knelson, lifeguards, did their part not only in helping to get the show together but also by appearing in serious and humorous diving exhibitions at the actual performance. Last but not least the committees of mothers who spent long and untiring hours with the arrangements should take a bow.

Work Together

Outstanding were the solo, duet and group numbers performed by the charming teenage girls who were well awarded for their hours of practice in the perfect coordination and relaxation shown. The girls are all under Red Cross instruction at the pool.

During the first nine numbers of the parade, for which nearly 1,000 tickets were sold, lady luck was with the scouts, no rain. When during the tenth number, "Intermezzo," showers began again, Walt Cryer and two friends from Joliet, Don Kienlin and Bob Rys, took over for some expert diving. When the rain had at least subsided to a drizzle the girls, like regular young troupers, gave the remaining numbers of the show which closed with a stimulating number using lighted sparklers.

Proceeds from the show will be used by the troop to further scouting activities. Participants in the show and their guests were entertained at an After the Parade party by Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. Whitcomb at the Boyd home. At this time the girls presented gifts to their leader and directors.

The fair was opened Friday by Gov. Adlai Stevenson, who said he represented the ambition of Illinois youngsters to become the best farmers in the world.

Unveils Statue

The governor unveiled a bronze statue of a youthful exhibitor of a calf, strolled through a pictorial layout of the state with Georgeanne Penwell, 12, of Pana, and turned an extra-thick milkshake over to James Cole, 12, of Springfield, with the comment, "I'm afraid of making a spectacle of myself."

He also submitted to camera fans and autograph seekers but finally reduced his signature to initials.

Some 3,000 children and their parents nearly filled the Coliseum to witness the baby pageant.

Wins Prize

First prize among the pageant's youngest contestants went to Jeffrey Charles Dale, 9½ months old, of Springfield, who posed as Old King Cole.

Linda Ariana, 4, of Kincaid, took first place in the float division for children under four.

Twins shared the blue ribbon for the brightest red head. They were Linda and Freddy Schmulbach, 5, of Springfield.

Most Freckles

The most freckles were found on Frances Krumpke, 12, of Washington, Barbara Polston, 8, of St. Louis, Mo., had the most curls, and the longest pigtailed were worn by Rebecca Gail Van Deventer, 13, of Meredosia.

Mrs. W. E. Altman of Springfield won the first of 6,000 adult blue ribbons to be awarded, for a child's dress she submitted in the textiles and arts division.

Adlai's Cousin Has Talk With Gen. Eisenhower

SAN MARINO, Calif. — (AP) — David Merwin, a co-owner with Gov. Adlai Stevenson of the Bloomington, Ill., Pantagraph, said Friday he had had a non-political talk with Dwight D. Eisenhower, Stevenson's presidential rival.

Merwin said the meeting was held Thursday in Denver.

"Nothing but military and national defense matters was discussed," Merwin said. He and his brother, Loring Merwin, share ownership of the Pantagraph with Stevenson, who is their cousin.

Merwin said he talked with Eisenhower for a half hour. Merwin writes on military affairs for his newspaper.

He said he does not know which candidate the Pantagraph will support, adding that he refers that question to his brother, who now is publisher.

In Bloomington, Loring Merwin said the paper will make its first statement concerning the presidential campaign in an editorial Monday. He added, however, that it will not pick a candidate at that time.

Attorney General Says He'll Spare Man From Deportation

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Atty. Gen. McGranery says he sees no reason for deporting Karl A. Latva of Wendell, N. H., the man who said he paid 90 cents in Communist dues 17 years ago.

"I will certainly not break up this family and send this man away, if the facts are as they are presently reported," McGranery told a news conference Friday.

He said he will have the FBI investigate the case of the Finnish textile worker who has been ordered deported under the 1950 McCarran Internal Security act.

Latva, a 49-year-old loomfixer, testified during naturalization proceedings that he once joined the Communist party in 1934 and made a 90-cent contribution. He said he spoke no English at the time and thought he was getting into a labor-aiding organization.

McGranery said the Boston federal judge who denied Latva's petition to prevent deportation "ruled the only way he could under the McCarran Act."

But as chief law-enforcement officer, McGranery said he has "latitude in deciding whether prosecutions should or should not be pressed."

The New York State unemployment insurance law exempts persons with fewer than four employees from mandatory coverage. Non-profit religious, charitable, scientific, literary and educational groups also are exempt.

State Architect Resigns Former Guard Boss Named

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — (AP) — The retirement of C. Herrick Hammond, supervising state architect under five Illinois governors, has been announced by Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

Lt. Gen. Richard Smykal of Wheaton has been named to replace Hammond as acting supervisor of the state division of architecture.

Hammond was first appointed to the post by Gov. Louis L. Emerson in 1929. His successor retired as commanding general of the Illinois National Guard in 1951 and is an official in a Wheaton construction firm.

Foreign Policy

world, is held together very precariously.

"The Russian leaders have been picking off the free world piece by piece and if this process goes on, there will be a balance of power against us so great that I do not think that general war can be avoided because the Communist leaders will then have a good hope of victory."

Ike Is Answer

"I am absolutely convinced that Gen. Eisenhower, by reason of his experience, stature and prestige throughout the world—and policies I feel confident he will pursue—will check that trend. I believe he alone can check that trend."

Dulles then said he has a high personal regard for Stevenson, but feels the Democratic nominee isn't qualified for the White House.

A reporter noted that Dulles said Stevenson lacks the power of decision. It perhaps would have been better, Dulles said, to have put it this way:

"No one, without past experience in making grave decisions, can all of a sudden be qualified to make the type of grave decisions that are going to be required while we are in the twilight zone between war and peace."

"Gen. Eisenhower, through his experience, has developed and demonstrated that capacity. It is at least highly problematical that Gov. Stevenson has it."

Two Differences

In reply to a question, Dulles said there are two major differences between administration foreign policy and the course Eisenhower advocates.

"First," said Dulles, "we Republicans advocate a global, balanced policy which will treat the people of the Far East, Middle East, and Africa as equals and first class members of the free world, and not as second class expendables, which is the administration's policy."

"The second difference is that we will abandon the policy of mere containment of Communism and will actively develop a resistance spirit within the captive peoples, which—in my opinion—is the only alternative to a general war."

Must Be Stopped

"I believe this type of aggressive despotism (Communism), unless stopped from within, will keep on going until it has to be stopped from without."

Instead of a policy of containment, Dulles said, the Republicans would "assume the psychological offensive and not be satisfied by mere defensive policy that doesn't work."

More Showers Fall on South To End Drouth

(By The Associated Press)

More showers moved toward the South Saturday and government weather forecasters looked for a complete breakup of the drought in that area.

Recent rains have eased drought conditions in New England and the Southeast, but Arkansas, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee still are critically dry with damage to crops and pastures mounting.

Widely scattered showers sprinkled parts of Arkansas and showers were forecast over the weekend or within five days for most of the central area.

The Agriculture department worked out a plan Friday for getting surplus hay from five Midwestern states into drought-plagued Kentucky and Tennessee. The government will foot part of the bill.

Showers also occurred Friday in the upper Mississippi Valley and along the Atlantic Coast. Fair weather prevailed in the Far West and over much of the Rockies and Great Plains.

Cooler weather came to the upper areas of the Midwest and along the middle Atlantic Coast.

Dixon Motorist Hits Wrong Car, The Police Car!

Arthur W. Eastman, 417 W. Second st., ran into the wrong automobile last night—the police squad car.

He hit the squad car, police say, as it was jacked in front of the Lawton dairy bar only a few minutes after his car had struck another auto on Peoria avenue.

According to Policemen Glenn Camery, Jr., and Ray Wilson, Eastman had hit the car belonging to Harry Full, 335 Lincoln way, about 9 a. m. on Peoria avenue, had then driven away and five minutes later ran into the squad car.

The policemen took Eastman back to the station and booked him for driving while under the influence of liquor and leaving the scene of an accident. He is to appear in county court sometime today.

Mother Scolds Son for Giving $500 to Police

JOLIET, Ill. — (AP) — Would finding $500 make you happy? Nine year old John Vondras found that sum in a brown paper bag yesterday while walking along a street near his Chicago home.

Without hesitation he took it to Sgt. Thomas O'Grady at Town Hall station and said:

"Look what I found. It isn't mine so I thought I'd better bring it here."

O'Grady praised his action and assured him the money would be returned to him in a year—if no one claimed it.

Last night police found the boy sleeping on the lawn of an East Side Joliet home—40 miles from Chicago. He told police he was hitch-hiking to California because "I had a little trouble at home."

Police notified his parents, Frank and Ruth Vondras, who came to Joliet to return him home.

Police said his mother told them he ran away after she scolded him for not confiding in her before going to the police.

Eleanor Just Destitute, Says Husband Billy Rose

NEW YORK — (AP) — Billy Rose has fired another verbal salvo at his estranged wife, Eleanor Holm Rose, who accused him of being a tightwad.

The thorny battle of the Roses has been see-sawing back and forth ever since Mrs. Rose, the former star, sued for a separation. Rose launched a counter suit for divorce.

Adultery is the only ground for divorce in New York. The divorce case is scheduled to be heard next month. Mrs. Rose has been getting $700 a week temporary alimony.

Thursday, Eleanor said the pint-sized Broadway producer was stingy with his money.

Friday night Rose, in a statement teeming with sarcasm, said in part:

For instance, throughout our marriage we lived in a five-story town house on Beekman Place with only one lousy elevator. The

Adlai Chooses Friend to Guide Campaign in Fall

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — (AP) — Gov. Adlai Stevenson held tight control of his presidential campaign today after the appointment of his old friend Stephen A. Mitchell of Chicago to head the Democratic National Committee.

Mitchell was given the committee chairmanship in an obvious move by Stevenson — the Democratic presidential nominee — to put his own lieutenants in key spots for the big drive to win the November election.

The appointment was something of a political surprise. And it showed Mitchell — a virtual unknown on the national scene — in to the top Democratic ranks. He moved over the heads of old line party leaders whose names had been mentioned as possible successors to the present chairman, Frank E. McKinney, of Indianapolis.

Stevenson's choice was approved by the executive committee of the Democratic National Committee. It is expected to be ratified shortly by the full committee.

Mitchell has been chief counsel for the House judiciary subcommittee investigating the Justice department. He was due here this afternoon for the first of a series of conferences with Stevenson on campaign strategy.

Mitchell told reporters in Chicago last night that the appointment came as a surprise and he exclaimed, "now I'm in the soup."

The 49-year-old attorney will see Stevenson today and then will meet with Stevenson and McKinney tomorrow for a further discussion of campaign plans.

McKinney was reached in Kansas City and told of Mitchell's appointment. He said he had been in touch with Stevenson by telephone and felt he could step aside since the party had united behind Stevenson and Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, the Democratic vice presidential nominee. Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, the

Our hardy forefathers recognized the value of thrift. We can help you solve your financial problems.

Dear Hugh,
YOU'RE ON YOUR way back now—tanned, relaxed and prepared to face the cigar store experts again with a clear mind.

You'll find things pretty much the same as you left them. Stegel says the Yankees are going to win the pennant and Mintz claims his boy Ezz was robbed.

Nothing new.

I'M ALSO AFRAID to stay around in case it rains this weekend. It looks like the whole local sports picture is going to depend on a few drops of moisture.

Let me explain:

(1) If it rains Saturday the Sterling NITA singles tournament will be postponed until Sunday. That will, in turn, cancel the Dixon-Janesville for the league title schedule for Sunday. That's the one that was rained out last week—remember?

(2) And if it rains Sunday, no one knows what they're going to do with the Sterling singles matches, the Cherry Valley-VFW baseball game or the picnic I'm supposed to go on out at Lowell park.

(3) And, if it rains Monday, they're going to postpone the Amvet all-star game, hold the annual picnic at the Amvet hall and, I imagine, build an ark in case the deluge continues through Tuesday.

STILL TALKING ABOUT rain, you should have seen the diving exhibition given by Walt Cryer and two of his Joliet buddies at the Aqua parade last night.

When rain held up parade proceedings, the three of them went out and gave the crowd something to "ohhh" and "ahhh" about. It sounded almost like the Fourth of July.

AND THAT JAYCEE dinner that you're not going to be able to make tonight at the Dixon Country club—Don't worry about it. I'll take care of the chicken.

IF THERE'S anything I've forgotten, you can contact me at Lowell park—if it doesn't rain, that is.

It's Too Early to Compare Shantz With Grove: Talbot

NEW YORK—(AP)—Let us not be hasty about comparing Bobby Shantz with another lefthander who used to pitch for the Athletics, Robert Moses Grove. Let us leave young Bobby to develop for a time, say 10 or 15 years, before we take him beyond his depth.

Every time Shantz racks up another one, some enthusiast pins manager Jimmy Dykes against a wall and demands to know if the devious little cuss isn't a better pitcher than Old Mose was.

About all he can say is that it is difficult to compare 'em, Shantz being the cutie type with five or six different pitches whereas Grove, in his greatest days with the A's, depended upon a fast ball, a faster ball and a bullet, holding the latter back for emergencies.

Old Mose was the last American Leaguer to win 30 or more and the only southpaw ever to attain that mark. That was in 1931, when he closed with a 31-4 record. Grove pitched 17 years in the big show, nine with the Athletics and eight with the Boston Red Sox. In his last year, when he was a graying 41 and his fast ball just a memory, he still was able to break even at 7-7 with a sore-arm curve.

Those seven he won in his valedictory were just enough for a round total of 300 victories against 141 defeats.

In the nine-year stretch from 1927 through 1935, Grove only once won fewer than 20 games. His victories read, in order: 20, 24, 20, 28, 31, 25, 24, 8, 20. That lonesome eight came in 1934, his first after he had been traded to the "Gold Sox." He had a sore arm that year.

In his four greatest years, 1928-31, Grove blazed a won-lost record of 102-23. He led the American League in earned-run average nine times, his prize being 2.05 in 1931. He led in strikeouts seven straight years.

None of this is meant to discourage Shantz or to suggest that Philadelphia's fans haven't something to get excited about. One who saw Grove at his peak merely wishes to recommend moderation.

Pafko Pays Off for Brooks

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Handy Andy Pafko finally is paying Brooklyn some juicy dividends on the big deal of last season.

Hitting an even .300 with 15 home runs and 55 runs batted in, the 31-year-old outfielder is refuting those who said he was "all washed up" when Chicago put him on the block.

Pafko seems to be overcoming a habit that disturbed manager Chuck Dressen's peace of mind. His first 10 homers came with nobody on base. In fact, his first 14 drove in only 15 runs, including himself 14 times. Then came last night's three-run blast off Curt Simmons in the 10th inning for a 6-3 victory over the Phillies.

It was an important blow for the Dodgers, enabling them to stretch their lead to 6½ games, just as it was before the Giant series. New York was shut out by Boston's Max Surkont, 2-0, and St. Louis lost to Cincinnati, 8-5.

The Big Man
Pafko was the big man for the Brooks, driving home five runs with his homer, double and a long fly ball. The extra-inning blast gave the win to Preacher Roe who took over in the eighth after Ray

Shuts Out Cubs

Murry Dickson took matters into his own hands for the downtrodden Pittsburgh Pirates. He shut out the Chicago Cubs for 10 innings with six hits and then broke up the game with a 10th inning single for a 1-0 verdict. Dickson even contributed an unassisted double play as he caught a pop bunt and raced over to double a runner off first base.

Rookie Bill Glynn's homer in the 12th enabled Cleveland to tighten up the American League race a bit with a 10-9 win over the St. Louis Browns. As a result, the Indians now trail the idle New York Yankees by only 2½ games.

The Browns fell on Bobby Feller and Lou Brissie to open up an 8-0 lead in the first two innings but the Indians came back and finally tied the score in the ninth on Larry Doby's three-run homer. Glynn's second major league homer gave Early Wynn his 14th victory and Dave Madison his second loss.

Casey Stengel

'No More Fooling Around!' Casey

NEW YORK—(AP)—Casey Stengel, a wise old man, usually gives out with a wink when asked if he's going to win his fourth straight pennant.

But the New York Yankee skipper predicted today his team not only will take the flag, but "we're going to win his fourth straight the Red Sox."

"It's time we quit fooling around," said the one-time left-handed dentist. "I made nine mistakes on our last road trip, and my players made nine more."

"We're going to win it now, and everyone's going to take part. There are a couple of players not putting out. They'll change in a hurry, or they'll be gone in a week's time."

Casey looked around his hotel room, then continued before anybody else could speak:

"This is the time to get out there and win it. I don't know why Boston's been so tough. But we'll make our move this week. We'll beat them, both here and up in that place with the left field wall Fenway Park."

Lou Boudreau, boss of the surprising Sox, doesn't quite see eye-to-eye with Stengel.

"When we get back to full strength, we'll be a thorn in somebody's side," said Boudreau.

Then, quickly:
"And that includes the Yankees!"

"Don't forget," Lou continued, "such players as Stephens, Kinder and Vollmer have been out."

"Kinder has been put back on the active roster, but I don't know when he'll be able to pitch. It'll take two or three weeks of relief before I could consider starting him."

Kinder, who's usually tough on the Yankees, has been on the inactive list with a bad back.

During the next 10 days, the Yanks and Sox will meet seven times — three times in Yankee Stadium and four times in that place with the left field wall.

Call Necciai Up to Pirates

PITTSBURGH —(AP)—Ronnie Necciai, 19-year-old righthand hurler who a few months ago struck out 27 batters in pitching a no-hitter for the Bristol (Tenn.) Twins of the Class D Appalachian League, has been called up by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Necciai's contract has been purchased from the Bucs' New Orleans club in the Southern Association. If everything goes according to plan, he will be used against the Chicago Cubs Sunday.

Necciai started this season with Bristol where he compiled a 4-0 record, striking out 109 batters in 42½ innings. He walked only 19, gave up 10 hits and allowed five runs—only one of which was earned.

LAYNE, THEN RAIN

Mintz Calls Decision 'Lousy'

BY CLIFTON E. WILSON
OGDEN, Utah.—(AP)—Husky, young Rex Layne bulled his way over ex-heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles last night in a 10-round decision which threw the Charles camp into an uproar.

Jack Dempsey, the former world's heavyweight champ who was the referee and sole judge, held Layne's hand up in the victory sign as thundershowers deluged Ogden Stadium.

Immediately afterward, Charles' co-manager, Jake Mintz, rushed into the ring, berated Dempsey that "this is the lousiest decision I've ever seen."

Later, Dempsey told a reporter that "I called them just like I saw them. I'm sorry that Mintz or anyone else didn't like the decision. I'm sorry."

Layne weighed 195 and Charles 190 for the outdoor fight which Promoter Ken Mayne said drew more than 23,000 fans. Mayne estimated the gate would top $150,000. Each fighter will receive 35 per cent.

The fight tempo hit its hottest pace in the eighth round when both fighters landed telling blows.

The 31-year-old Cincinnati Negro flicked a left which cut Layne's lip in the ninth. Charles kept boring in at a fast pace, behind his sizzling left, and the battle ended in a last-round flurry.

Mintz claimed that the only way Charles could have won would have been by knocking out Layne.

Some of the ringsiders also disagreed with Dempsey's card of seven even rounds, two for Layne, and one for Charles.

In his dressing room, Layne, the 24-year-old Utah strong boy, who lost his first fight with Charles, said the ex-champ "hurt me several times."

But Layne thought he scored a solid victory. His manager, Marv Jensen, said, "We consider Rex the uncrowned heavyweight champion of the world. He has licked both Charles and the present champ, Jersey Joe Walcott." Jensen said he will now try to line up a Layne-Walcott go in September.

"The Russian divers were pretty good and very nice, but they are awful big."

Olympic committee member Jeremiah T. Mahoney:

"The preparation in Finland for the games was beyond our fondest expectations. Conditions could not have been better."

Rowers Chuck Legg, Jr. and Tom Price, "Cinderella" winners of pairs without coxswain:

"We didn't believe we had won at first."

Fencing Captain Mike de Camprilles:

"The Russian and Polish fencers looked promising and are going to be a threat in the next four years."

Counterpoint To Return to Track Today

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—(AP)—C. V. Whitney's Counterpoint, horse of the year in 1951, hopes to prove today that he again is a strong candidate for the honor.

The four-year old son of Count Fleet gets his first major test of the season in the mile and one-quarter of the $20,000 added Whitney Stakes.

He's been out only once since being sidelined by an injury last winter and in that race at Monmouth Park the Whitney colt won handily. And he'll be the favorite today under 123 pounds, three less than the Greentree Stable's One-Hitter will pick up.

Ferrier Takes Over Lead in 'World Championship' Match

CHICAGO—(AP)—Midway leader Jim Ferrier's gifted putter today was a magic wand that beckoned golf's richest prize, the $25,000 top money in the whirling "world championship" fairways carnival.

Ferrier, massive ex-Australian who became a U. S. citizen in 1944, took a two-stroke lead over 1947 national open champion Lew Worsham into the third round of Tam O'Shanter's $80,000, four-ringed circus.

Ferrier has dictated scorching rounds of 68-66 for a 36-hole total of 134, 10 under par. Big Jim's metronome putter tapped only 27 times in Friday's 31-35 effort.

Worsham, who wobbled to 71 from an opening 65, was a stroke ahead of Argentine star Roberto De Vincenzo of Buenos Aires and Pete Cooper, White Plains, N. Y., knotted at 137. Cooper, co-leader

Expect Rash Of Saucer Reports Soon

NEW YORK—(AP)—An astronomer predicts meteor showers during the next few nights—accompanied by a flurry of "flying saucer" reports.

Robert R. Coles, chairman of the Hayden Planetarium of the American Museum of Natural History, said last night that meteor particles, also known as shooting stars, would break through the heavens nightly through Aug. 13.

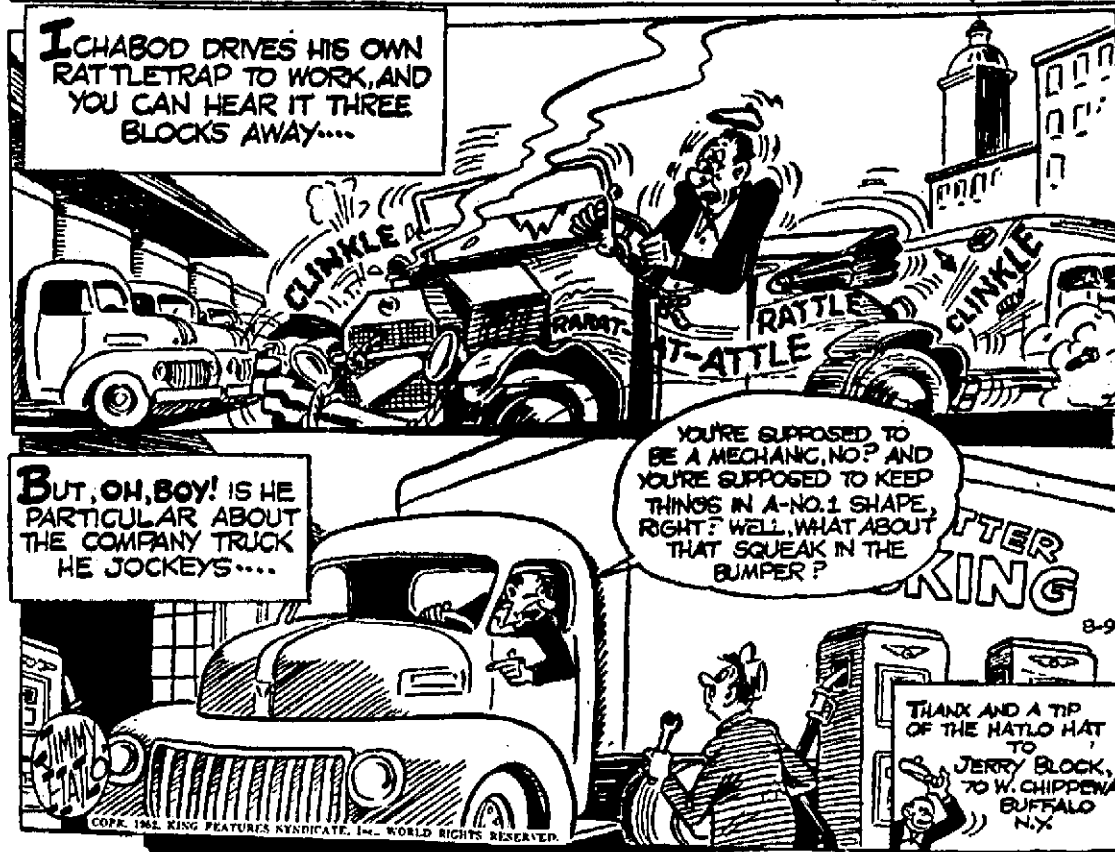

"If the skies are clear," Coles said, "there will probably be a larger than average crop of flying saucer reports around Aug. 12, but these will be caused by the Perseid meteor shower."

The Perseid display is so-called because the shooting star trails appear to converge on the constellation of Perseus, Coles said.

The particles disintegrate into dust as they fall, he added, and won't hurt you.

They'll Do It Every Time

New York Is a Big, Cold, Flinty City--Or Is It?

By BELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK —(AP)—As everybody knows, New York is a big, flinty city, cold as a cash register, with turnstiles for a heart beat, and ticker-tape instead of human feelings.

Everybody knows that. On the way to the office—plenty of time to walk down today—you come to the first corner, and the usual tug-of-war begins. Which street today?

Lexington, and the little shops devoted to "interiors?" or Fifth Avenue and Central Park, the toy sailboats and the lovers, strolling? How about Third Avenue so you can see what's new in the foreign-food stores and pawn shop beneath the elevated?

All Beckon
Each one beckons, smiling and promising, like fruit vendors in a Balinese bazaar.

Well, let the traffic lights decide. When they turn red against you, go along with the traffic, cross-town, to the next street. That way, you get something of each one. Plenty of time, this morning.

A bus is stopped at the corner, and the door is open. You can hear the driver explaining directions to a woman. "Lady, you want to be going up-town—that way. You're going the wrong way."

He glances at the traffic light, which is green and guns his motor, just a little. She hands him a piece of paper and says something in a thick, foreign accent.

She Hesitates

"Yes, ma'am," he says, "I got the address all right." He looks at the light again. Still green. "But it's back that way where you want to go. You get the other bus."

She hesitates for an instant before she steps down. The light turns red.

"Well," says the bus driver, with a small sigh. "I guess it's a tough to be a stranger in the city." There's a wedding at St. Patrick's this morning, and a crowd has gathered. New Yorkers are always in such a hurry they never have time for anything. A little girl, pursuing one of the pigeons, darts into the street.

A taxi veers, crowding out another. Skidding tires growl. The driver stops, hard. "Look out there, sister," he says. "Or you'll never be walkin' down these steps hangin' on some guy's arm."

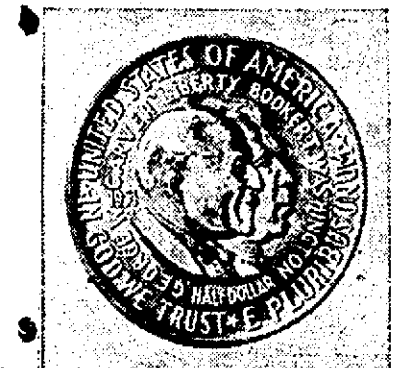

As everybody knows, New York is a good place to visit, but you wouldn't want to live there.

'Let Me Think'

NEW YORK—(AP)—A platinum blonde who did a "wine bath" act in a Coney Island girlie show—until authorities closed it last week—says the skit is educational and even historical.

The blonde, Tirza, yesterday told Supreme Court Justice Anthony J. DiGiovanna:

"My presentation takes us back to the year 200 B. C. In the city of Athens. Greek mythology. Very beautiful and educational." DiGiovanna reserved decision.

Brannan Sees
No Shortage
Of Foodstuffs

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan says he does not believe the widespread drought will cause either a food shortage or a material rise in food prices.

Brannan said in an interview last night losses caused by the drought in the Southeast and New England would be offset by farm production in other areas.

Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall recently predicted just the opposite: that food prices were going higher. Brannan, asked about this, said: "Mr. Arnall is entitled to his own opinion" but that he disagreed with it.

Brannan said food prices in areas hit directly by the drought might go up, but this was a local effect. Elsewhere, he said, he believed the effect would be "psychological rather than real."

Candidates to Get Choice of Inaugural Rites

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Gov. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois are going to be asked whether they want a big or a little presidential inaugural ceremony.

Leslie L. Bliffie, secretary of the Senate and secretary of the Congressional Inaugural Committee, told a reporter he will put the question personally to the nominees.

Sen. Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.), chairman of the committee, said it will be up to them to decide just how far they want to go in elected-in making the ceremony elaborate or simple.

If Eisenhower wins in November, Republicans are expected to make a large-scale show of their first inauguration of a president in 24 years.

If Stevenson is the victor, friends think he will want only simple ceremonies.

Allies Report No Plane Losses
To Enemy Fighters; Bag Is 18

SEOUL, Korea—(AP)—The Air Force today triumphantly announced it didn't lose a single plane in aerial combat this week while Allied jets blasted 18 Communist MIG-15s out of the skies and damaged 19 others.

Four U. S. Air Force planes were lost to Red ground fire and four to unknown causes in action over North Korea this week the Air Force said.

It was another day of fine, bright weather and the warplanes were out in force.

On the ground, the Army today disclosed a bold foray which a U. S. Eighth Army tank and infantry team made into enemy territory on the Central front—an invasion which was met by a remarkable 3,000 rounds of Communist mortar and artillery fire.

The Eighth Army raiders struck a Red position southeast of Pyongyang early Friday and a bloody battle raged for four hours and 15 minutes.

The daring raid was made into the heart of an enemy artillery stronghold which has been delivering strong volleys of fire at Allied lines.

He Who Waits . . .

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—(AP)—A carnival worker was fatally injured last night in what was described as a "contest" to see who could stay longest on the tracks as a train approached.

Coroner Robert Barrett said he was told the man was knocked more than 100 feet by a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train. He said carnival workers told hospital attendants of the so-called contest and said another man was involved. He was not identified.

The victim was identified as Virgil E. Burkhardt, 25, who was said to have joined the show last month at Washington, Pa.

federal-state raids on a four-county liquor ring.

Among those arrested were two veteran city detectives here and a night club operator. The detectives were accused of protecting a liquor law violator while the night club owner was charged with conspiracy.

The other 61 were charged with possession of illegal whisky. All were arrested on federal warrants. The raids were carried out in Monroe, Clark, Washington and Mobile counties.

Girl Friend
Tips Off MPs;
'That's Fine'

LONDON—(AP)—Frederick Clegg's girl friend failed to show up outside a London subway station—but two military policemen did. The MP's hauled Clegg away on charges of desertion from the Army.

At a court martial yesterday, Clegg, 23, found out that girl friend Lynn Dove had tipped off police about the date. As he was led away to serve a five months prison sentence, Clegg said:

"I'm going to marry Lynn as soon as I'm out. She is a wonderful girl and did what is best for both of us."

China Lobby
Figure Being Replaced Here

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A key figure in the "China lobby" case is being replaced as military attaché to the Chinese Embassy.

The embassy announced yesterday that a successor has been named to Brig. Gen. Peter T. K. Pee. But it said the move was routine—that attaches usually serve two years and Pee has served four.

The "China lobby" case centered around charges by Sen. Morse (R-Ore.) that efforts had been made to influence U. S. officials in favor of Chinese Nationalists.

To support his point Morse in April made public 23 cablegrams sent to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in 1949 and 1950. Pee was one of two men who allegedly signed the cablegrams.

Pee and the alleged co-signer of the cablegrams said at the time they were "fabrications" and "distortions." Efforts to prove otherwise apparently have failed. The Justice department said to have reported that the signatures could not be authenticated because they were in Chinese.

Missed Once, Twice . . . Then . . .

ATLANTA—(AP)—For ex-Marine Dan Webster Shattles, 33, it was three times and out.

Shattles was killed yesterday by the same woman who had shot at him three times in three years.

Police booked his wife, Mrs. Mary Helen Shattles, 35, a pretty brunette, on suspicion of murder charges.

Mrs. Shattles calmly admitted to police she killed her husband, plant manager for a coffee company, as he dozed on a sofa. She put one bullet through his temple.

In October, 1949, according to police records here, Mrs. Shattles, then Mrs. Mary Helen Mahus, shot Shattles on a street corner, inflicting a flesh wound. She was fined $27 for disorderly conduct.

In October, 1951, Shattles complained to Miami, Fla., police that his wife took a couple of shots at him, missing both times. He entered a charge of aggravated assault but withdrew it before the trial.

Mrs. Shattles told police she killed the wounded veteran of World War II after weeks of quarrelling.
